

SEVENTH BIENNIAL MEETING
THE INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF GENOCIDE SCHOLARS

Hosted by the Institute for the Research of Crimes Against Humanity
And International Law of the University of Sarajevo, Bosnia and Herzegovina

INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF GENOCIDE SCHOLARS (IAGS)

Dear Colleagues Joining in the IAGS Biennial International Conference in Sarajevo, Bosnia and Herzegovina, July 2007:

I am happy to extend to each and every one of you from the far corners of our planet a warm welcome to this very promising IAGS International Conference!

Our conference is dedicated to the memory of the late Professor Eric Markusen whom we mourn. Like Eric, we commit ourselves to the study of how genocide has been perpetrated by many peoples, including some peoples who were previously or later victims. Genocide is a constant threat to the unity of the human race. We must learn to overcome it. Like Eric, we commit ourselves not only to study genocide, but to prevent it.

We are especially moved by our opportunity to join the Bosnian people in their memorial and pain at the genocide that they so recently suffered, even as we join deeply with all peoples around the world who have suffered genocides. A sizable group of us come to this conference following an intensive seminar at Auschwitz-Birkenau where we met with planners of a new international center for genocide prevention.

As a Jew and Israeli, I am personally strongly aware of the need of a victim people to mourn and protest the tragedy one's own people has suffered. One also must always beware of the accompanying tendency to become insensitive to the similar suffering of others. The greatest maturity of a people is when it is able to join its own memorials with self-criticism and accountability, and to join in a battle on behalf of all human beings everywhere.

We are very grateful to our hosts at the Institute for Research of Crimes Against Humanity and International Law of the University of Sarajevo under the leadership of Prof. Smail Cekic, and to the staff including Congress Secretary, Velma Saric, and Muhamed Mesic.

I also express our deep thanks to Professor Gregory Stanton, First Vice-President and Incoming President of IAGS who is Director of the Conference; to Professor Alex Hinton, Program Chair; to Rebecca Parson, Andi Gervais, and Angela Francis, Student Assistants; and to Professor Paul Miller, Co-Chair for Organization, for their great contributions. Many thanks are also due to Professor Steven Jacobs, IAGS Secretary-Treasurer and Incoming First Vice-President, and to Marc I. Sherman, Director of Membership and Incoming Secretary.

Our conference is devoted to real advances in our knowledge of genocide and its prevention. The title of our new IAGS journal is GENOCIDE STUDIES AND PREVENTION, ably edited by Professors Alex Alvarez, Herb Hirsch, and Sam Totten, and until his death, Eric Markusen, and co-published by IAGS and our colleagues at the International Institute for Genocide and Human Rights Studies of the Zoryan Institute in Toronto, Canada.

I wish us all a deeply rewarding experience that will make us more able genocide scholars and leaders in our efforts at stopping ongoing genocide and preventing future threats.

Warm regards to all,

Israel

Prof. Israel W. Charny, Ph.D.
President

(Welcoming Statement from Institute Director Cekic to be included)

DIAGRAM OF HOTEL AND MEETING ROOMS

Meeting rooms at the hotel have been numbered and named for the conference and are marked with signs as follows. We have named the large conference hall Markusen Hall in keeping with our decision to dedicate this conference to the memory of Eric Markusen. The six meeting rooms are named for pioneers in the field of genocide studies and prevention. Panels with the following numbers will meet in rooms marked with the following names:

1. Morgenthau
2. Lemkin
3. Karski
4. Wallenberg
5. Kuper
6. Mace

Instructions to Presenters: Presentations are meant to be outlines of papers, rather than readings of papers, and will be strictly limited to twelve (12) minutes per presentation. Abstracts and full texts of papers may be posted on the IAGS website and IAGS Blog (www.genocidescholars.org and <http://www.genocidescholars.org/blog/>) so that the full articles may be read by conference participants and other IAGS members.

Instructions to Session Chairs: To conserve time, no introductions should be given except for the presenter's name. Affiliations are listed in the program and biographical information will be posted with abstracts on the IAGS website.

Chairs are instructed to use the timers that will be provided, and to give presenters two (2) minutes warning after ten (10) minutes. Presenters must then conclude their presentations. At twelve minutes, Chairs will indicate the end of the presentation, and the presenter should finish the sentence he or she is on, and sit down. Further reflections should be raised during the half hour discussion that has been provided at the end of each session.
